Borovets is the best and largest year-round mountain resort and ski center in Bulgaria. It offers 18 well-groomed and lift-equipped ski runs, totaling over 40 kilometers. The peak descends from a high point of 2,560 meters, with a maximum vertical drop of 1,420 meters. Borovets' ski season runs from December through April with a snow cover of more than 1.5 meters. It also is able to produce snow if needed, and some slopes are illuminated for night skiing. There are also several tracks for cross-country, biathlon and snowmobiling.

Seven Rila Lakes in the Rila National Park

The chain of the Seven Rila Lakes is the largest, most picturesque and most visited group of lakes in all of the Rila Mountains. The lakes are found at differing altitudes and appear like large footprints or steps leading up the mountain. Each of the lakes is named according to its shape.

One of the youngest Bulgarian national parks, it covers nearly half of the Rila mountain range. Rila National Park is renowned as a hiker's paradise. The scenery is truly breathtaking.

Nielsen, her husband, in the original Swiss style used 70 years earlier. The villa combines luxury and charm while carrying on the proud tradition of guest hospitality initiated by the founders.
